Scavenger Hunt

By the Activities Committee

I need a name, please!!!!

The activities committee is going to have a contest to name this statue. Please think of a name and turn it into the office. If we have duplicate names, we will draw the winner. The winner will receive a $10 gift card for the Country Cottage Restaurant. The contest deadline for the naming the statue is noon on June 30th 2023.

When we have a name for this statue it will be hidden every week for the summer starting July 14th. It is 8 inches tall by 7 inches wide and notice the color, a great camouflage blend for hiding in or out around the club house. When you find the statue, handle it with care, take the statue to the office and claim your gift certificate for Country Cottage. When it is found, a Bugle Blast will go out and it will be hidden again and again.

Activities Committee thought it would be fun to do for our WEG community. We had a scavenger hunt a few years ago and it was fun.

Please read the N/V starting July 14th for rules, updates and winners.

MEET THE ARTIST

JULY 9 – FEATURED ARTIST

Gail Woodard

4pm in our Living Room Gallery

By Anne Reslock

Our featured artist for July in the living room at Country Cottage is Gail Woodard. Gail grew up in Oregon, studied at University of Oregon and received degrees in Sociology and Fine Arts. She has been an impressionist artist, working in watercolor and acrylic, for most of her life. Her focus is Wine Country and NW scenery. Working from her photos, her paintings reflect her interpretation of her photos. Come on July 9th for an informal reception to meet Gail Woodard. Sunday 4PM living room at Country Cottage. Refreshments Served.

Join us at Open Studio on Mondays 10AM-3PM, Wednesdays 6PM-8:30PM at Woodburn Art Center/Glatt Gallery

Pruning Workshop

The Garden Club is sponsoring a pruning workshop for WEG gardeners interested in learning how to prune flowering evergreen shrubs including rhododendrons, azaleas, etc. Instruction on the pruning of evergreen shrubs comes with the proviso that you would assist us in pruning the evergreen flowering shrubs around the Estates clubhouse. To ensure that these shrubs flower next spring, the pruning needs to be completed no later than the 4th of July.

Please contact Ron Allowitz at 503-951-3110 or 503-951-1425. The date of the workshop is dependent on the volunteers' schedules.

Reminder:

Clothing Event is FREE

Lots of clothing items have been donated and they are located in the lobby of the Auditorium. Please come and browse through the selection and help yourself. Ends 4 pm on Sat. 6/24

Mayor Frank Lonergan & Councilor Sharon Schaub cutting the ribbon dedicating the park with some of the attendees.

Senior Estates Park Dedication

By Karen Linton

On Wednesday, June 14, as advertised in the N&V and at Coffee Hour, the park was re-dedicated. Woodburn Mayor Frank Lonergan spoke of how important Woodburn Estates & Golf was when it was built and how important the community has been in the greater Woodburn area. He also answered questions from the attendees and took suggestions - one of which was to build a restroom in the park, but others rebutted that with the idea that a restroom would invite graffiti and people sleeping in it. It was also suggested that parking along Country Club in front of the park be changed to “No Overnight Parking” to eliminate people leaving their vehicles blocking the entrance to the park. The mayor suggested that the name “Senior Estates Park” be changed to reflect something more of the community.

Approximately 50 people, including several city employees, attended the ceremony, many coming after the mayor’s speech and ribbon cutting. Light refreshments were served.

Previously to these additions, the city paved the walking trails in the park, a major improvement. The new improvements to the park include a fenced off-leash area for dogs, a picnic shelter with new picnic tables, a trash receptacle, a permanent bench, and a new drinking fountain which has three ways to use — regular fountain, a downstream of water to fill your water bottles and a low fountain for pets. The shelter can be reserved for groups or individuals for picnics, parties, etc. Call 503-982-5239 for availability and reservations.

The city applied for and received two separate grants to be used at the park, the larger one from AARP. However, the two grants did not pay for all the new amenities. The City of Woodburn paid for the remainder of the costs. Although this is a city park and is not a part of Woodburn Estates & Golf, our members’ use of the park exceeds any other Woodburn residents, so we thank the city for all the upgrades!

Founder of Woodburn Estates Dies

By Karen Linton

Since none of us living here now were around when the golf course and first homes were built in 1961, it escaped our notice that George Marshall, the founder of Woodburn Estates (known then as just “Senior Estates”), passed away on March 6 in Portland where he was also born on March 1, 1934. He had a degree in business from the University of Oregon and after a stint in the Army, he began working for Brice Mortgage where he was tasked with finding the land for the first senior living subdivision. He started with the golf course and a few houses which has now grown into 1508 homes and is the largest senior living subdivision in Oregon. All of us who enjoy living in what is now known as Woodburn Estates & Golf owes Mr. Marshall thanks for his foresight, planning, and development.

Woodburn Estates & Golf – Men’s Golf Club Monthly Meeting
June 7, 2023 • 10:00AM in the WEG Dining Room

President Fred Bourne CALLED THE MEETING TO ORDER at 10:06AM, followed by the PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE. All officers and committee chairmen/representatives were present unless otherwise noted. There were 23 members in attendance.

PRESIDENT’S REPORT: Fred Bourne reported on upcoming events, including the June 10th Mixed Tournament, the Men’s Handicap Tournament (Thursday and Friday, June 15-16), “Family Golf” weekend on June 17-18, the Women’s Horse Race (June 24), the Over 80 Tournament (June 26), and the July 4th Mixed Tournament. Other golf events later in the year include the Match Play Tournament and the Two-person Mixed Horse Race.

VICE-PRESIDENT’S REPORT: Mike Archer congratulated Robert Jones and Don Gienger, who won the Men’s Horse Race. Two aces (“holes in one”) were recently enjoyed by Gene Mickey and Bill McBride.

TREASURER’S REPORT: Treasurer Dean Cullison reported balances as of May 31:

- Checking account fund balance: $3,400.99 (includes $685.00 in 50-50 funds). He noted that items were purchased for the Handicap Office and that OGA was paid an additional $385.
- Voucher account balance: $5,238.94
- The Treasurer reported 127 current members.

SECRETARY’S REPORT: No report by Steve Kufeldt.

GREENS COMMITTEE REPORT: Ken Bourne noted the marked improvements in the condition of the golf course over the past month. The Grounds Crew deserves our thanks! Updates regarding the hiring of a new golf course superintendent, a new golf pro and/or a new pro shop manager were discussed. Dave Rushton announced a June 17th meeting for volunteers to help fix ball marks on the greens.

HANDICAP COMMITTEE REPORT: Thanks were expressed to Steve Krieg and his wife for their great work in updating the Handicap Office. It was noted that Steve resigned from his position as the Handicap Chair.

MIXED TOURNAMENT COMMITTEE REPORT: Fred Bourne reported that the July 4th Mixed Tournament will feature men from the gold tees in addition to the ladies from the red tees. The sponsor is EXP Realty.

RULES COMMITTEE REPORT: Dave Schuur reported on the rule that covers what happens when a ball marker on the green is moved due to being in the line of play of another player. If the ball is then played from the new position instead of moving it back to the original spot, a two-stroke penalty is incurred. Accidentally moving a ball in the rough while trying to find it in heavy rough is not a penalty, though if moved, the ball must be replaced. Otherwise, it is a one-stroke penalty. It was noted that the “drop zones” on hole 9 are to be used when the ball crosses the blue line and enters the cart barns. There is no penalty. The “drop zones” are not for other ball situations.

SUNSHINE COMMITTEE REPORT: Chuck Johnson was not present, but it was noted that a card was sent to Kevin Burnside and a card is to be sent to Bill Vertner.

OGA COMMITTEE REPORT: Dave Rushton reported that the Oregon Super-Seniors Tournament is now filled to capacity.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS/NEW BUSINESS: None.

FOR THE GOOD OF THE ORDER: Gary Johnson shared about CERT (Community Emergency Response Team), which supports the local fire department. They are seeking to purchase an AED device (cost $2900) for the Woodburn Fire District station. It was MOVED (Fred Bourne/Dean Cullison) that the Men’s Club donate $300 for this purpose. The motion passed unanimously.

50-50 RAFFLE: A total of $40 in tickets were sold and Ted Roof won the pot ($20).

It was duly moved and seconded to ADJOURN the meeting at 10:58AM.

The NEXT MEETING of the Men’s Golf Club will be Wednesday, July 5 at 10:00AM.

Respectfully submitted,
Steve Kufeldt, Secretary

Responsibility for WEG Events 2023

By Sharyn Cornett, VP and Activities Director

Hi everyone, things are changing all around the world. WEG is part of the world and we are changing with the times.

Our staffing is at minimal levels. Costs are continuing to rise every day. To keep our budget and costs affordable, responsibility for events will fall to the members sponsoring the event.

This means the event planners oversee setting up and taking down tables, chairs, and cleaning the space. This includes garbage, washing, or sweeping floors.

If you use the dishwasher, please come back, empty it and put the dishes away.

When you are doing an event and find the space not clean, report it to the office in detail. If this happens frequently the group responsible may incur a fine for leaving it unclean and not ready for the next group. Remember, you do not pay to use our facilities. This is a privilege for our members. All non-members pay rent and a cleaning fee. This cleaning fee is only refunded if the space is left clean.

Soon the office will have a detailed list of community volunteers to help with events. Just get the list and start calling for help. All our volunteers really do want to help and share in the burden of work. This whole community was built on the volunteer spirit. We always help each other.

Our maintenance crew is busy with other projects and does not have time to help set up tables and chairs. Find out the event before and share set up and take down times.

Thank you for your cooperation in these changing times.

Hakuta Matata

by Alice Tvetan

Most of us recognize this phrase made famous by the Lion King movie. It's a Swahili phrase meaning "no worries" or "take it easy". Lorrie Cox and I left February 26 for a photo safari trip to Kenya. But "no worries" isn't how our trip started. It was a miracle we made our flight to Nairobi. Kenya had released all covid requirements, but Delta's system hadn't yet been updated, and we were not allowed check our bags or get our boarding pass until I had a negative antigen test. This was at 1:30 and our flight left at 4:00pm, and the baggage check counter closed at 3:00pm. We were directed to go to a nearby CVS so Lorrie called Uber to take us. Our Uber driver said he would stay with us until we returned to the airport (miracle one). However, the CVS informed us they did not do these tests. Now what ?? We were then directed to an urgent care about 15 minutes away. So, after 1.5 hours and two different medical facilities, we were able to get the required test. We arrived back at the airport at 3:05pm. Can we still board the plane?? We flagged a couple of wheelchair attendants to whisk us to the Delta gate.....the farthest gate in the entire airport. When we arrived, we were told our bags were too big to carry on (we knew this) and the attendant said he would check them for us. Next, we were taken through the same drill about not being able to board until the attendant finally saw that an antigen test was accepted. We were the last two passengers on the plane. Whew, we made it!! Now we could settle down and enjoy (?) our 11-hour flight to Amsterdam, transferring planes for the 8-hour flight to Nairobi.

After two grueling flights, we arrived at Nairobi airport at 10pm local time, a busy and modern airport even at this late time. Thankfully a rep from our tour company met us and four others who booked the same trip. We learned that the six of us would travel together in a Toyota Landcruiser 4x4 with a roof that lifted up for photos and viewing. At the hotel we were briefed on the next day, and finally got to our room at 1:30am. We had an early 8:00am meet and greet with our tour driver, Sam, who stayed with us the entire trip. Lorrie and I were surrounded by other languages, because although everyone spoke English, the driver spoke Swahili, a married couple spoke Spanish, and a father & son from Canada spoke French.

On our first day, we drove several hours to our first stop, Ambosili Game Reserve. Our accommodation was a large tent, nicely furnished and even with a standard bathroom including a shower and flushing toilet. We giggled when we used our key to enter.....a padlock slipped in 3 zipper pulls on the screened front enclosure. This was a first!! Along the route, we saw giraffes, zebras, and various antelope grazing in open spaces next to the highway. After lunch, we experienced our first game drive. It was awesome!! We saw giraffes, baboons, hyenas, warthogs, wildebeests, zebras, lions, ostriches, gazelles, impalas, Thompsons antelope, African eagles, Maribu storks (scavengers), and even a pelican. In a large swampy area, we saw elephants, water buffalos, and hippos submerged and some up to their heads in the water, happily munching on the greenery. Mt. Kilimanjaro was the backdrop for this day. This was an unforgettable introduction to the wild animals we came to see. That evening after dinner we sat around a fire and watched elephants come to the nearby water hole.

The next morning we experienced a second game drive on our way to the next stop, Abadare Resort, which is situated high above the Rift Valley with beautiful floral and fauna grounds, small deer, peacocks, and many other beautiful birds. Our cabin rooms were higher than the reception area, so we were transported back and forth by golf carts. This made us feel right at home. There was no game drive at this resort, but plenty more to come.

The next morning, we left early for Lake Navisha, and again we saw much wildlife along the way. As we passed through villages, we saw stands selling fruits and vegetables everywhere, and ramshackle and colorful buildings selling all types of goods imaginable, including tires, hardware, water, food, etc. all fronted by dirt approaches. No building codes here, obviously! En route we stopped at Thompsons Falls that drop 242 feet into a gorge. The overlook was surrounded by many curio shops and locals dressed in tribal costumes for photos (for a donated fee, of course). Our next stop was the Equator and we were shown a demonstration of how water circles on each side of the equator, one side clockwise, the other side counterclockwise, using a small stick on the water for visual effect and no movement when placed directly on the Equator. This was fascinating. Approaching the lodge, we could see flamingos in the far distance but not close enough for a photo. Our lodge was near the lake, and the grounds were visited by hippos, giraffes, and water buck (a large antelope similar in size to an elk). Even though they were some distance away, armed guards took us to our rooms after dark. Our bed here had mosquito netting, not seen yet.

The next day we headed to the Maasi Mara National Reserve, stopping to visit a traditional Maasi village where adjoining homes were made of mud and dung. We were first greeted by the elder of the village (age 95) and a dance by red-clad warriors jumping 4 feet off the ground. Inside the village courtyard the Maasi women sang a song for us. We were given a look inside one home, with very tiny rooms for a family of 8 children plus parents. The three bedrooms were the size of a double mattress, 4 children in each of two rooms, and a separate room for the parents. There was also a tiny kitchen and eating room. Goats and chickens wandered in the large courtyard that is enclosed with thorny brambles at night to keep out wild animals. The Maasi children now go to government-funded public schools until 8th grade. Modern society is slowly invading Maasi life as later we saw men in traditional red garments driving game vehicles, riding motor scooters, wearing watches, and even using cell phones.....a very contrasting juxtaposition !! We saw a demonstration of how they start fires, rapidly twisting a stick of wood between their hands and positioning on a flat piece of wood until it's red hot, then adding dry grass and blowing on it to spark a flame. After lunch our third game drive led us to a pride of lions next to the road, giraffes lunching on treetops along the roadside, and a leopard that ignored the numerous vehicles viewing it as it stood up, laid back down, and yawned repeatedly. The game drivers communicate by CB radio to let each other know where animals can be viewed. Leopards are normally elusive, sleeping in trees during the day, and not frequently seen. This one was luckily more social. Next, we saw sleeping cheetahs, a pair of cheetahs on the hunt towards a herd of antelope (they caught wind of the cheetahs and moved away), hyenas, zebras, various antelope, and more.

The next day we enjoyed our third full-day game safari with a stop near the Masa River for a picnic lunch. Two large groups of hippos and a few crocodiles were laying in the river. Our picnic site was in the scrub trees for shade but was occupied by baboons, monkeys, and mongoose. A persistent monkey kept trying to get at my lunch, and I shooed it away several times, but finally it quickly grabbed my wrapped cake and ran away with his treat. He also tried in vain to get inside a locked vehicle. After our lunch, we made a stop at the Tanzania border and ignored the no-entry sign to have our photo taken in Tanzania. Later we saw family herds of elephants including babies and older juveniles, antelopes, zebras, and giraffes. The next morning, we enjoyed our fourth game drive and saw so many animals we lost count. Then in the afternoon, it was back to Nairobi for our last night in Kenya.

Since our flight home didn't leave until midnight the next day, we had a full day to ourselves. Our group hired a game driver to take us through the Nairobi National Reserve, and we saw our first rhino, more zebras, antelope, wildebeests, elephants, water buffalo, lions, and ostriches. It's amazing to see all the various animals comingling, but not with predators obviously. The rhino sighting completed our Big 5 animal sightings that included lion, elephant, water buffalo, leopard, and rhino, named such because they were the most hunted in years past. Hunting is now forbidden in Kenya and many other African nations, but sadly poaching does exist for elephant tusks and rhino horns. It was a curious sight to see the Nairobi skyline as a backdrop to the animals that included numerous skyscrapers. In the afternoon Lorrie and I went to a giraffe reserve where we could be at eye level with giraffes on elevated walkways and were given a small bowl of pellets to feed them. The other 4 decided to go to the Nairobi Museum instead. Then we all had dinner at the Carnivore Restaurant famous for serving wild game. This night only ostrich and crocodile were on the menu, along with beef, pork, and chicken. The meat is cooked on a large flame surrounded by a ring of brick and then brought to tables on long knives.

Nairobi is incredible with its opposite diversity, wealth amid poverty, modern highways along dirt side roads, colorful buses loaded with passengers and belongings stacked high atop the bus, and skyscrapers next to smaller older 3 to 6-story buildings. We saw a street vendor wearing a U of O Ducks tee shirt and a sign reading Parkrose Hardware, although I don't think it's a branch of Portland's Parkrose Hardware. It's still common to see women carrying water or other things on their heads, donkeys along the roadsides, jeans for sale that were laid over guard rails, shirts for sale draped on shrubs, and vendors in the middle of the highway and street lanes selling water, vegetables, and fruits.

Two other Swahili words we learned were Jambo, with is the hello greeting, and Karibu meaning welcome. We also learned stop and go to give the game driver instructions, but I've already forgotten those words.

Our flights home were the reverse of our flights to Kenya and more grueling because we were tired from our trip. The 11-hour time difference made adjusting to PDT difficult for several days until our body clocks caught up. This was an awesome look at an older culture and how they live among all the wild animals. You should add it to your bucket list of places to visit. I highly recommend it if you can handle the long flights.

Alice Tvetan and Lorrie Cox at the equator.
