Year End Committee Reports ~ 2:00 PM Sunday, November 28, 2023

PRESIDENT’S ADDRESS –
Ken Bourne:

First, I would like to thank the many members that attended the annual meeting. It was great to see so many folks and listen to your concerns and opinions. The Board members listened, will try very hard to correct our mistakes, and do what is best for the community.

I would also like to congratulate our 3 new Board Members, Connie Johnson, Dorothy Monnier and Andrew Nordby, as they will bring different ideas to the board and will hit the road running.

I would like to tell you about an event that Gloria and I attended on Thanksgiving. We were asked to attend the Thanksgiving feast put on by The Foodies Club in our Auditorium. There were 150 people that came and ate. The Auditorium was decorated in holiday theme and took on the look of a 5-star Restaurant. The smells of the food when you walked in started the taste buds to flow. All of the tables were full, with many faces that were new to many. The Turkey dinner and all the fixings were great.

What made the event so great was the laughter heard around the room, the conversations held with members and nonmembers, with people you may or may not know. Everyone was friendly and very thankful for the event.

This was a great Public Outreach and Marketing event. I heard many people say they cannot wait for the next Foodies event. I would like to publicly thank Kim and The Foodies Club for a great job and making many feel welcome.

TREASURER’S REPORT

Fund Balances as of October 31, 2023
Operating Fund:	$483,827
Reserve Fund:.....	$578076
Working Capital Fund:.....	$855,769
Accounts Receivable:	$55,758

The Budget Committee met on November 15th to finalize the proposed 2024 Fee Schedule, Capital Working Fund, Reserve Fund, and the Operations Budget. Members Mike Hepburn, Linda Hepburn, managers Debbie Brown, Vince Cantwell, as well as myself.

The review of the October year-to-date financials show we are on track to be in the black 2023. Maintenance and Ground Keeping are still shorthanded which increases the workload of regular and overtime hours for employees.

I would like to give you a short explanation of our 3 funds.

OPERATING FUND: is for day-to-day operations including but not limited to utilities, payroll, taxes and such.

The 30 Year Study tracks all physical assets with an original purchase price of $1,000 or greater. When an item is purchased that cost more than $1,000, the information item including name, date of purchase, purchase price and life expectancy, etc.. are entered into the 30-year study. Some items might have a life expectancy of 5 years while others may have a life expectancy of 15 years or more. We use this study to help with the Reserve Budget.

The Reserve Fund tracks which assets are due for scheduled repair or replacement over the course of the next 30 years. The Reserve Fund must have adequate funds to cover the cost of repair or replacement. Careful management of the Reserve Fund assures us there will be sufficient funds to cover costs as needed now and in the future.

Working Capital Fund. When a home in WEG is purchased, there is a Working Capital Fee (WCF) that new buyers pay to become a member. The WCF must first fund the Reserve Fund to cover future costs. The balance remaining can be used for new and non-existing Capital Projects. Recently the Capital Working Fund were invested in the RV Storage units, which will provide additional income to the Operating Fund. End of report.

SECRETARY’S REPORT –
Kim Farquharson

The Secretary would like to thank and commend the election committee for their work with the election of the annual meeting. Their quiet but professional way of handling their duties was very nice. A special call out to the Chairperson, Diana Lindberg for all of her organization, work, and oversight of the process. There were several changes made to the whole process this year, and I have to say that they were very successful and contributed to the smoothness of the whole election. The redesign of the envelope seemed to resolve the issue of people signing in the wrong place as there were only 8 envelopes that did not have signatures on them in comparison to the close to 70 envelopes with issues the last two previous years. This year, there was a stipulation added to Bylaws 5.3-5 ‘if there was a difference of 15 votes or less between candidates #3 and #4, then an automatic recount shall be done within three days. I wish to make sure all are aware that there were only 14 votes between #3 and #4, and it did trigger the recount. The votes were counted, not once but three times. In the end, all was well done, and I wish to thank all involved. End of Report

ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE -
VP Sharyn Cornett

The billiard room is finished and ready for play. Thanks to the many people who made this happen. Pictures and articles will be in the next N&V. Come learn to play with friends. The money collected from guests will be used to get new tips for the cue sticks. If you want to donate for this cause, please put money in the locked box in the room under the sign in sheet. Each new tip costs $12.

Come to the toy drive this Saturday for Love Santa and the opening of the Christmas Season here at WEG. Entry is an unwrapped toy, you will get door prize tickets. A Christmas painting from the Glatt house will be given away plus some other prizes. Winter paintings will be on display. Enjoy a piece of pie with friends and neighbors and sing some holiday carols. Santa will be there and Elf to take your gift. This is the last official event of this activities group for 2023. Next year will be a whole new group, think about joining and bringing new ideas for our members to enjoy.

RV COMMITTEE –
Director Connie Johnson

The new storage units were delivered and are being assembled as we speak.

GOLF COMMITTEE – Chair Ken Bourne

Golfing activities this month have only included the brave in heart and spirit as the temperature and the wind have been cold. The few brave souls, all bundled up with extra clothes, stocking caps and golf heaters barely missed a day, and all said it wasn't too bad and can't wait for tomorrow.

HOUSE COMMITTEE –
Director Marilyn Sbardellati

I want to thank everyone who volunteered to perform the winter pruning of the rose garden.

CJ Hansen was out to do preventative maintenance on all HVAC units. A gas leak was found in the dining room unit and repaired.

Carpets were cleaned in the restaurant, living room, library and hallway in the west wing. This is the second time this year the restaurant carpets were professionally cleaned by WEG.

Next up will be the pro shop, pool room, and foyers for the office, dining room and auditorium.

The next step in repairing the storm water drainage around the clubhouse is to repair the broken line leading out to the city’s storm drain along the property line bordering the east side of the golf course.

We received our first bid for the work to be done on the pool. The committee made the decision to hold off on the leak detection work until the pool renovation begins. There is some risk whenever excavating near the pool. Doing both jobs simultaneously will reduce the number of times the pool is closed and reduce the risk of damage to the pool to one time period rather than two.

MARKETING/PC COMMITTEE -
Director Sherman Lackey

The Marketing PC Committee discussed the following:

Changes and updating of the Woodburn Estates & Golf website.

Advertising in relation to revenue. Last year Publications had a short fall of $4582.00 dollars, this year we project News & Views to nearly break even, and Publications to be $882.00 in the black.

Streaming Board meetings. In 2020 the Board decided to use Zoom to provide our membership, and the Board, a method to have accessible board meetings. In going through the emails amongst the board between April and July 2020 I found that Zoom meetings were never intended to be permanent but were expected to be dropped as the Governor of Oregon allowed public meetings to be held. The Listen In phone service was never approved by the Board and may bear some liability if member names are not secure. If the Board decides to hold live stream Board meetings, the Committee suggests that we have a service, like MCS, to do an inventory of the equipment needed, bandwidth updates needed, and suggestions on how to provide our members with such a service. I have spoken with MCS and they can assist us with this, they have some experience with live streaming, and we are already a client of MCS. The committee also insists that no member of the board be involved directly in running live streaming, as this is a distraction, and the Board members need to be attentive to the business of the Board. MCS says that from a security standpoint MS-Teams or Zoom is better than You Tube or Face book for live streaming. But first the Board needs to determine, via a motion to do the live streaming.

Discussed making a short informative brochure to distribute via the pro shop that showcases the Organization using our incorporated name Senior Estates Golf & Country Club; this needs be a concise (not wordy), brochure with associate types and associate fees listed.

Creating a short survey of the members regarding the electronics used in the home. I have spoken with House about this as House was going to do a demographic survey, which was shut down by the mess of the recall, and interference by the Board secretary.

By Karen Linton

Some of our members aren't old enough for MEDICARE, but this information is for those who are. Medicare A covers hospitalization. To get coverage for doctors, lab work, X-rays, etc., you need Medicare B. When I first got Medicare, I didn't know anything except a Medicare Supplement to receive those services. It didn't cover prescriptions, so I needed another policy for that -Part D. It was quite costly and kept going up. So I switched to an HMO, like Kaiser Permanente. That saved me some as the premium wasn't as high and included prescriptions. That premium kept going up as well so I finally learned about SHIBA-SENIOR HEALTH BENEFITS ASSISTANCE. This is a network of certified Medicare counselors who can help you decide what program is best for you. You can contact them at 1-800-722-4134. However, I prefer someone local who would meet with me personally. We have a member, CAROL BOLTON, who is a counselor or you can look up Medicare counselors online or in the phone book to find one. I decided to get a Medicare Advantage program that covers everything. There are some plans starting at a zero (0) premium.

If you are eligible income-wise, you can apply for EXTRA HELP. It offers three levels of assistance depending on your income. It will help pay your premiums and part of your prescription costs. You apply directly through the Social Security office 800-772-1213 to order an application or complete one over the phone.. There are also Medicare savings programs administered by the Oregon Department of Human Services. QMB pays Medicare premiums, deductibles, co-pays and co-insurance. Income limits are $1215/mo.single—$1644 couple. SMB and SMF pays for Medicare Part B premiums only. It depends on federal funds and may not be available always. SMB limits are $1428 single—$1972 couple. SMF limits are $1641 single—$2219 couple. Contact Aging and Disability Resource Connection (ARDC) for more information. 503-304-3420 or information.nwsds@nwsds.org. They also have many classes to help with caregivers, living with Alzheimer's, etc.

You can also, if eligible, apply for the Oregon Health Plan (Medicaid). This program pays for your medical and dental services. The income limit is quite low—$794/month or have a disability. You can't have more than $2000 in savings as a single or $3000 if a couple. There are other stipulations and also deductions so the best way to find out if you are eligible is to call for more information, ADRC—1-855-673-2372.

THE OREGON PROJECT INDEPENDENCE is a needs-based state-funded program. You must be over 60 and have a disability, not receive full Medicaid and need help from another person to bathe, dress housekeeping, etc. All people in the program pay on a sliding scale. Again, contact ARDC at 503-304-3420.

There are more many more programs available for seniors. ARDC can give you information on what programs would be available to you. There will be a Senior Resource Fair in February at the clubhouse. Watch for notices and plan to attend.

Let's not forget our 4-legged companions. There are programs that can help you with the costs associated with having a pet. A Spay and Neuter Clinic of the Oregon Humane Society Salem for cats offers accessibly-priced services as well as reduced costs for community members on government assistance, 503-480-7729. Friends of Felines also offers a spay and neuter clinic in Keizer, 503-362-5611. Many veterinary clinics offer low-cost or sliding scale spay and neuter clinics.

MEET THE ARTIST

January 7th Bob Musser
4pm in our Living Room Gallery

By Steve Veltman

Woodburn Estates resident Bob Musser is our featured artist for the month of January. Born in Evanston, Ill (outside Chicago) in 1935, Bob took Architectural Drawing in high school. His first experience painting was with paint by numbers but began a serious pursuit at North Park College (now Chicago Teacher's North) at the age of twenty six. Bob's artistic education continued with classes taken at the American Academy of Art in Chicago as well as the Chicago Art Museum.

At age forty, Bob plunged into ceramics. He exhibited his work in local galleries but eventually tired of hauling his artwork back and forth- He quit creating art altogether in 2008.

Recently, Bob was inspired to pick up his brushes yet again. Though his chosen subject matter is conventional, his new paintings might be considered abstract. "Now I am painting for my children", he says. Hopefully they will pass his artwork along to their children and in that way, become family heirlooms.

A reception for Bob Musser will be held in the Living Room on January 7th at 4pm. Please plan to join us.

Call around to check. There was one in Canby that advertised in the Woodburn Independent that offered low or no cost spay and neutering once a month. There is a pet food bank in Oregon City that offers pet food for a donation. It also has very low-priced treats and collars, leashes, etc. They are open 9 am to 2 pm the third Saturday of the month and Wednesdays from 9 am to 12 pm.

TRANSPORTATION

If you need transportation to medical appointments, the City of Woodburn has a service for older citizens and the disabled that will take you, for a donation, if you're going outside Woodburn. They will go to Salem or Portland. They took me to Milwaukie for my cataract surgery. Inside Woodburn it's free and can be used for shopping, dining, church, etc. It's called Dial-a Ride. You call and make a reservation and they will pick you up at your home, take you and bring you back to your home. Reservations must be made at least one day in advance. Call 503-982-7433. There is also bus service within Woodburn with stops in our community. Until further notice, all fixed routes, weekend routes and express route services are free.

Hopefully, some of these ideas will help you with your finances. All income limits are based on 2023. The limits will probably be raised in 2024, so you should check back if you've been denied or think you can't apply. You should get current information and apply even if you're a little over the limit. The programs may have deductions that would enable you to be eligible.

Unusual Christmas Myths From Around the World

On Christmas Eve, Santa Claus flies around the planet in a sleigh with eight reindeer (or nine, depending on whether they're being a jerk to Rudolph that year). He goes down the chimneys of all the good boys and girls, dropping off toys and other gifts. Kids leave milk and cookies for him to snack on before he goes on his way to the next house. On Christmas morning, all the children wake up to find beautiful presents from the jolly man in the red suit with the long white beard.

That's the legend that most of us grew up hearing and believing. However, in different parts of the world, there are several other myths and legends that children believe in. And to much surprise, a lot of them are extremely frightening. This article will detail 10 of the most unusual – and sometimes creepy – Christmas myths from around the world. If these myths don't make you want to be good boys and girls this year, nothing will.

BELSNICKEL – The myth of Belsnickel originated in Europe during the middle-ages. While he would separate the good children from the ones who were bad all year, he allowed the naughty ones to redeem themselves back to the good side. For the children who were good all year, he would leave toys and candies, while the naughty children received switches. Unlike Santa Claus, Belsnickel would actually announce his presence by knocking on doors and windows so the children could see him. He is described as a thin person who wears fur clothing with bells attached and wears a mask. In one hand, he carries a bag of presents for the good kids, and in the other a switch or whip for the naughty ones.

KNECHT RUPRECHT – The legend of Knecht Ruprecht has two different beginnings – the first one is that he was a wild child but was found and raised by Saint Nicholas; the second version is that he was a farmhand prior to becoming Saint Nicholas' assistant. Just like Belsnickel, Knecht Ruprecht would also carry around a switch. He helped out Saint Nicholas by going to each child's house and asking their parents if they were good or bad that year. If their parents said that they were bad, Knecht Ruprecht would use the switch on them as punishment.

PÈRE FOUETTARD – The story of Père Fouettard originated in France and southern Belgium in the year 1150. He was a butcher who lived in a small French village with his very greedy wife. They lived near a boarding school where the children of the wealthy families would attend.

SINTERKLAAS – The Dutch have their own version of Santa Claus, and while there are numerous similarities between the two, there are also a few notable differences. Sinterklaas looks more similar to the Pope (hat and robe) rather than a fat man in a red suit.

GRÝLA – In Iceland, dating back to the ancient Pagan time period, there is a very frightening myth of Grýla who is said to be a mountain troll with hooves for feet, and has 13 tails. Every Christmas when she leaves the mountain, she looks for children who have been naughty. When she finds them, she kidnaps them by stuffing them into a bag, and brings them back to her cave, boils them alive, and eats them in a stew. She is always in a bad mood because she is constantly hungry for children

YULE LADS – The Yule lads are the 13 sons of Grýla, and each have their own unique characteristics – much like the beloved Seven Dwarves of Snow White fame, but substantially creepier. Every night during the 13 days before Christmas, the Yule lads visit the children of Iceland. If the children have been good, each lad leaves a small gift, but if they were naughty, the lads will leave behind a rotten potato.

JÓLAKÖTTURINN – Another myth from Iceland is the Jólakötturinn, or the Yule Cat. He's also, in fact, the family pet of Grýla and the Yule lads. The myth of this Christmas cat has been around since the 19th century (at least, as far as written records go). He is said to be a large cat that wanders the streets during Christmas and eats people who are not wearing new clothes. While it is believed that the Jólakötturinn likes to eat humans, other versions of the legend have him eating all the food belonging to the people who were so poor they couldn't afford new clothing. At one point, it was illegal to use the story of the Jólakötturinn to scare children, but the ban was lifted shortly after.

LA BEFANA – La Befana is an Italian Christmas witch that has quite a few similarities to Santa Claus. On Epiphany Eve, the old woman carries a large bag and flies around on a broomstick visiting boys and girls to see if they have been good or bad. She will leave the children candy and gifts if they have been good, but if they have been bad, she will leave them dark lumps of coal. And instead of leaving out cookies and milk, a glass of wine is often left for the witch to enjoy before going on to the next house.

It is believed that the myth of La Befana dates as far back as the 13th century. Legend has it that the Three Magi were on their way to present gifts to little eight pound, six ounce baby Jesus when they stopped at an old woman's house to ask for directions to Bethlehem. Before they left, they invited the old woman to accompany them to see the new-born King, but she refused. After much thought, she decided she wanted to join them, but they were already gone, so she left sweets at every child's door along her journey, hoping that one of those houses had Jesus inside.

KRAMPUS – Most of us have heard of Santa's evil and terrifying sidekick Krampus. The name Krampus comes from the German word "krampen," which translates to "claw." The legend of this long-horned, furry, goat-like beast with a long tail and a forked tongue has terrified children for many years, making them afraid that, if they were bad during the year, Krampus would beat them with a bunch of sticks, kidnap them, and bring them down to Hell for an entire year to punish them.

FRAU PERCHTA – The legend of Frau Perchta is well-known, specifically in Germany and Austria. This Christmas witch is also known as the "belly slitter" because if a person is lazy or committed too many bad deeds during the year, she will slit their belly open and steal their insides with the long knife she hides under her clothes. She will then replace the stolen organs with garbage, straw, or rocks. She has also been said to cut out the tongues of children who lie, and if she found a spinner's work half finished, she would set fire to it. She is followed by a pack of demons who torture people who are bad; however, she is also said to protect good people from those evil spirits.

Music Jammers

by Dena Hollod

What a feast we had at our potluck on December 10! Our tables were full of food and we really had a nice turnout attendance wise. Thank you everyone for making our potluck such a success. There are no more jammer play dates in December. We'll see you all on January 14 at 1 pm in our auditorium.
